VOLUME ONE

MR. A. F. MAHAFFEY

The annual staff dedicates this volume of Treasure-Trove to Mr. A. F. Mahaffey. It was he who conceived the plan of publishing it, and it was he who made possible the carrying out of the plan. Whenever the spirits of the staff died down it was always he who came to the rescue, suggested new ideas, revived the lost enthusiasm, and made the book what it is. All the credit and any honor which this little volume may obtain belongs to him.

He served all the students alike, working for their best interests always.

The students of Monroe High School appreciate his efforts and will miss his personality and his guidance.

The class of '30 wishes to express its appreciation to the school board for all it has done for the class and the school. It has realized the necessity of efficient teachers and approved books. Through the Board a long discussed improvement for the school has at last been realized—the new gymnasium and auditorium!

TREASURE-TROVE

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1930

A crew of bold buccaneers, who had spent eight years sailing on the calm waters of Grade School, saw in the distance the ship "Freshman." Aiming to take possession of the brig, the pirates swooped down on the boat and became its rightful owners. The captain and first mate were Miss Maxine Siebenbaum and Mr. Chester Lybecker. At the first meeting of the pirates they voted that Audrey MacDougall, president; Harold Lamberton, vice-president; Maxine Hewitt, secretary; and Clyde Shuler, treasurer, were to walk the plank. At a combined meeting of all the pirates Audrey Olson and Dick Hillis were chosen to represent the class on the Board of Control. A patriotic program was given by them on Lincoln's Birthday.

The banners of the lavender and gold were becoming famous when a larger and better equipped Schooner sailed into view. The chase began and after nine months on the ship "Freshman" they caught and captured the vessel "Sophomore." Their flags, motto, and courageous crew with famous leaders immediately took possession. A new group were to walk the plank on this ship: president Ralph Jacobson; vice-president, Dick Hillis; secretary, Alice Mathey; and treasurer, Don Hillis. The Board of Control was represented by Audrey Olson and Dick Hillis for half the trip and by Anna Bump and Don Hillis the rest of the voyage. Again a program was given by the buccaneers on Lincoln's Birthday. This trip the leisure time was very profitably spent in athletics for the girls captured the class basketball championship and a number of awards, and the boys won several places on the teams.

A smaller but much faster ship was next attacked and as the pirate numbers were fewer it was the ideal boat. Again they transferred the lavender and gold flags, this time to a brig called "Junior." The captain was still Miss Maxine Siebenbaum but the office of first mate was changed to Mr. Mahaffey. The officers for the year were: president, Don Hillis; secretary, Audrey Olson; and treasurer, Irene Elwell. The Junior pirates were represented on the Board of Control by Ralph Jacobson, treasurer, and Audrey MacDougall, secretary of the association and Anna Bump and Dick Hillis one semester and Alice Mathey and Allan Borlin the other. The pirates became merry one night and held a Junior Mixer where the Frosh were initiated into the order of High School Students. In the spring, after much work, the pirates gave a Bearcat Banquet in honor of the Class of '29. The boys and girls that year were the champion class when athletics were considered as the boys were the basketball and track champs and the girls were far ahead of the others in awards and skill.

The exclusive ship "Senior" is theirs now. Their captain is Mrs. M. C. Reardon and the plank was walked by president, Don Hillis; vice-president, Emory Donovan; secretary, Audrey MacDougall; and treasurer, Irene Elwell. The Board of Control was represented from the senior pirates by Allan Borlin, president; Dick Hillis, vice-president; Audrey MacDougall, secretary; Audrey Olson, treasurer; Bob Nelson, manager; and Alice Mathey, Ralph Jacobson and Emory Donovan, representatives.

The pirates of '30 were loyal to their lavender and gold and to the Bearcat emblem and the Orange and Black of the Confederation of Pirates.

Though they manned four ships successfully they also entered in all activities, and have always been known as the peppiest class in High School.

"We are strong! We are sturdy!
We're the class of 1930!"

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The good ship 1931 is bravely sailing over the wide seas searching for greater treasurers and adventures than ever found before. The trip is not an easy one for there are storms and dangerous waters, however, these are made less fearsome by the ever good-natured crew. The pilot, Mr. Mahaffey, with Captain Lanning and first mate Law, are doing their best to sail the ship smoothly over rough waters. This year the crew decided on two efficient members, Anna Bevensee and Kathryn Lobdell, to keep their records. The crew have had many wonderful adventures in the past three years and as you do not know of them, they will tell you.

"Shortly after they signed their names to the passenger list ready to sail in the latter part of 1927, the more experienced seamen initiated them by the annual Junior Mixer. After that they started their four year voyage in earnest. In March of 1928 they began their dramatic career by staging two frolicking one-act plays on St. Patrick's Day.

In the second year of their voyage they continued their entertainments by giving the Lincoln-Washington program. Later in the year the boys, after losing a contest, gave the girls a skating party which was thoroughly enjoyed by the whole class. The girls in that year showed that they were made of that which makes real girls, good voyagers, and better athletes by winning the championships in girls' class games in volley ball, basketball and baseball.

In 1929 the crew of '31 gave the Junior play, "The Whole Town's Talking" which was successful through the hard work of the cast and the directors, Miss Carman and Miss Torrey.

The class made the 1930 Junior-Senior reception one of the most remarkable ever put on. The banquet was handled with the help of the class by the general committee consisting of Alda White, Margaret Palmer, and Ruth Rogers.

Now the class of 1931 looks forward to finishing the fourth year of their voyage with a record never excelled.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

"Everyone for each other and all for the class"

In 1928 the good schooner "'32" left the peaceful sea Grade School where it had sailed for eight years, and with its crew of sixty-nine left for a four-year cruise of the Isles of High School.

Our year on the Freshman Isle has passed. The landing was difficult and the sight of the place was anything but cheerful to our eyes. We wondered how such a desolate looking land could help us any. The most important things we learned on this Isle were how it and the other Isles were controlled and the standards which the people on them must live up to. As we were to spend such a lengthy time on this Island, we had to have advisers and officers to control us and show us the points necessary for a successful voyage. The advisers were Miss Margaret Bare and Mr. Ward Holloway and the officers were: president, Norman White; vice-president, Don Knapp; secretary, Emma Peterson; and treasurer, Don Nelson. The two members of our crew chosen to represent us on the Board of Control were Dorothy Bump and Lyle Reaper.

While on this Island our crew gave a St. Patrick's Day program on March 18. An Irish play, accordion selections, and an Irish clog were presented. Our tour of this Island ended with nothing more of importance happening. Before sailing, our rulers for the next Isle were chosen: president, Don Knapp; vice-president, Roy Hallstrom; secretary, Edna Borlin; and treasurer, Alberta Fuller.

The sails were set and the flags of Blue and Gold were flying in the breeze on that calm day when our ship sailed on to the Sophomore Isle. On our arrival at the Island we found the landing much easier as our fame and reputation had gone before us. Our new adviser, Miss Lucile West, was waiting to give us the guiding hand we needed in our greater undertaking, that of successfully passing the Sophomore Island.

Those representing us at Sophomore Island on the Board of Control were Alberta Fuller and Lyle Reaper one semester, and Alberta Fuller and Norman White, the other.

While here we took part in the Mu Hi Jinks Carnival by operating games of chance and other stands. Another program, which consisted of a play, readings, and music, was given by our faithful crew on Lincoln's birthday.

In these two years the crew of the ship "'32" has proved its faith and loyalty to our ship, each other, and to the organizations we represent by the active part taken in both boys' and girls' athletics and by our scholarship, sportsmanship, and fair play.

Comrades on! Full steam ahead! The Blue and Gold are sailing on to the Junior Isle.

"Hurrah for the Gold! Hurrah for the Blue!

Hurrah for the class of '32!"

TREASURE-TROVE

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

The freshman class elected for its officers: president, Oscar Starlund; vice-president, Leon Hewitt; secretary, Marion Hewitt; treasurer, La Donna Watkins; yell king, Aylmer Bright; and yell queen, Mildred Byrns. Fred McGinn and Lillie Peterson were chosen by the Student Association members to represent the freshman class on the Board of Control. Miss Clark, Miss Carmen, and Mr. Bankhead, as advisers, guided the class safely through its first year.

The class was made up of many students from outside schools as well as from the Central Grade School.

During the year the freshmen took part in the Mu Hi Jinks Carnival and various programs. They sponsored a "baby show," "freak show" and a nail-pounding contest in the Carnival. The class as a whole was assigned the task of cleaning up the assembly hall after the Christmas program.

As a special entertainment the freshman English classes produced skits from Scott's "Lady of the Lake." The stage setting and the costumes of the players were as typically Scotch as possible. There were several scenes both indoor and out, and different students took the parts of the same characters in each scene.

The freshman assembly on March 17 celebrated St. Patrick's Day. The features of the program were an Irish jig by Irene Trombley and Gertrude Zerger, and a play, "St. Patrick's Snakey Snakes" in which all of the characters were Irish.

One high school custom that was appreciated by the freshman girls was the Big Sister organization in connection with the Girls' Club. Each senior girl was assigned a certain freshman girl whom she was expected to make acquainted with high school life. The first days in high school were the hardest, but the Big Sisters made them much easier.

Altogether, the class of 1933 had an enjoyable and profitable year made up of hard work and plenty of fun.

FOOTBALL

Monroe's championship football career received a severe jolt in the 1929 season, principally because of the lack of experienced players.

Coach Ted Bankhead's Bearcats, in their initial appearance, were defeated by the Stanwood eleven 25-0 on the Monroe gridiron. The much heavier and experienced Stanwood team had the going its own way. Keith MacDougall played a good game in the backfield, while Captain Emory Donovan played a head-up game for Monroe.

In the second game Monroe was defeated 14-0 in a hard struggle with the Yellowjackets at Edmonds.

In a surprise victory the Bearcats soundly trounced the Arlington Eagles 12-7 at Arlington. The Bearcats team was strongly enforced by the return of Hector Salvadalena, three-year all county star. Dick Hillis broke the ice by scoring the Monroe first schedule touchdown on a fake reverse. A pass, Salvadalena to Shuler, scored the second touchdown. Salvadalena and Shuler in the backfield, and Henderson, Donovan, and Don Hillis, linesman, played excellent ball for Monroe.

Monroe defeated the Marysville team 7-6 at Monroe in a close tussle.

In the last scheduled game the Bearcats were defeated by the championship Snohomish team, 46-0 at Monroe; although the score was large, the game was interesting and hard fought throughout. Charles Sheppard, Captain Donovan, and "Hec" Salvadalena were the stars for Monroe.

In the final game of the season, Monroe defeated Issaquah 8-6 at Issaquah.

Don Kennon and Albert Simmons worked very hard and faithfully throughout the season as football managers.

BASKETBALL

Coach Ted Bankhead called the first meeting of the Bearcat hoopsters the last week of November. About twenty men reported, only one letterman and about five in all who had had basketball experience before this season. By producing a second place team in the class "A" league and sending it to the county tournament, Mr. Bankhead set a record for future Coaches to drive at.

Let us be thankful, exceedingly thankful, for our Coach, whose unlimited efforts produced a winning team, and for Wilbert McCormick, who worked faithfully throughout the season as manager.

Bearcat Schedule Scores

Monroe 24	Edmonds 19
Monroe 16	Marysville 25
Monroe 19	Stanwood 18
Monroe 16	Arlington 22
Monroe 15	Edmonds 32
Monroe 25	Marysville 18
Monroe 18	Stanwood 17
Monroe 17	Arlington 12

In the most interesting game of the season, the Bearcats went on their own floor to avenge themselves on the Arlington Eagles and defeated them 17-12. This game proved very interesting as Arlington is Monroe's keenest rival and therefore a great deal was at stake.

The players who received letters were Capt. Allan Borlin, left forward; Ralph Jacobson, right forward, a good team man and a consistent shot; Roy Borlin, center, a good checker and pivot man; Emory Donovan, guard, the league's best defensive man; Clyde Schuler, the fastest dribbler in the league; Norman White, guard and good team defense man; Albert Simmons, forward, a reliable checker and pivot man. The second team repeated last year's performance by taking a championship.

Playing with teams of more experience and against handicaps, the team came through with a lot of fight and spirit due to good coaching and sportsmanship on the part of players and coach.

TRACK

The track aspirants were called together the early part of March by Coach Ted Bankhead. Four lettermen answered the call. Captain Don Hillis, Dick Hillis, Delver Henderson and Allan Borlin. Other candidates who were out for laurels were Harold Finke, Clyde Shuler, Myron Barter, Harold Williams, Albert Simmons, Don Kennon, Walter Gatterman, Don Knapp, George McPoland, Guy Fields and Roy Borlin.

The first event of the season was the class meet in which the Seniors won by a large margin, the Sophomores placing second, the Juniors third, and the Frosh last. Featuring this meet was the establishing of two records. Delver Henderson putting the shot 42' 11", bettering Everett Taylor's record of 42' made in 1916, and Allan Borlin hurling the javelin 145' 9" bettering Stuart Cromwell's throw of 141' 4" made in 1927.

Monroe pressed the strong Snohomish track team in a dual meet to its limits but finally lost out by a few points. In a Triangular meet with Arlington and Buckley, Monroe placed a close third, Delver Henderson and Roy Borlin placing in the weights, Don Hillis placing third in the mile and Allan Borlin winning first place in the javelin throw.

Delver Henderson took second place in the discus throw with Roy Borlin a close third at the county meet, held at Arlington.

The big event of the year was the first county two mile cross-country run. This event was directed by Mr. A. F. Mahaffey, former Monroe High track coach, who laid out the course and interested other coaches in entering men in this event. Harold Finke placed fourth for Monroe and Don Hillis placed sixth. Snohomish won the Sweepstake Cup, while a Stanwood runner won the first place pennant in the event, running the two mile course in ten minutes and sixteen seconds.

Those winning track letters were Capt. Don Hillis, two bars; Dick Hillis, two bars; Delver Henderson, two bars; Myron Barter, one bar; Roy Borlin, one bar; and Allan Borlin, three bars.

TREASURE-TROVE

TENNIS

With the coming of spring and sunshiny days, the lovers of tennis came to the start of another season. Old rackets were brought out from the closets, shellacked or restrung, and many new rackets were brought into use.

Every year tennis has gained in importance in the schools of the county, and especially at Monroe. At the first turnout of the year, it looked as though Monroe was to have a fairly good team. Lettermen from last year who turned out were Captain Ralph Jacobson, who was working for his third letter, and Lyle Reaper and Norman White, who were working for their second letters. Besides these men, Emory Donovan, Wilbert McCormick, Ed Danielson, Alex Law, Homer Lanning, Don Nelson, Roy Hallstrom, Clarence Grant, Oscar Starlund, and Jesse Cummings were also out.

The first thing of importance was the ladder tournament. Ralph Jacobson, by going through the tournament without losing a set, won the tournament and the school championship.

Monroe then played Snohomish, last year's county champions, and won two matches out of three. They played Marysville, winning three matches out of four. And then Monroe crossed rackets with the Everett high school, winning two out of three matches. Monroe next went to Edmonds without the services of its best doubles team and lost three matches, but won one. Everett played the Bearcats again, and being out for revenge defeated them in all matches. Monroe also won from Sultan twice and from Stanwood once.

The county tournament entries were Ralph Jacobson as first singles, Lyle Reaper as second singles, Clarence Grant and Oscar Starlund as first doubles, and Homer Lanning and Alex Law as second doubles.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Speedball—Manager, Anna Bump

Speedball, a new activity for girls, was adopted by the Monroe girls this year. Although the girls had little practice before the sports day, which was held in Snohomish, they made a brilliant showing. Three girls from Monroe earned positions on the All-County Team. They were Violet Bisset, goal guard; Evelyn Theiss, halfback; Anna Bump, center.

The girls making the first team were: Anna Bump, center; Adah Asher, forward; Alyce Lundeberg, forward; Isabell McGinn, end; Edith Brown, end; Vivian Hickman, fullback; Peggy Starlund, halfback, Evelyn Theiss, halfback; Uvona McCormick, guard; Margaret Palmer, guard; Violet Bisset, goal guard.

Volley Ball—Manager, Isabell McGinn

Volley ball, the girls' mid-winter sport, was very successful this year. The sports day was held in Sultan, where girls from nine schools competed for positions on the All-County Team. Mildred Byrns earned a position on the team and Olga Byrns received honorable mention.

The first team was composed of Adah Asher, Peggy Starlund, Maxine Hewitt, Alyce Lundeberg, Mildred Byrns, Olga Byrns, Alice Mathey, Audrey Olson, Vivian Hickman, Anna Bump.

Basketball—Manager, Maxine Hewitt.

The basketball sports day was held at Arlington, March 15. A position on the All-County Team was awarded Adah Asher, forward.

The class basketball championship was won by the Seniors. The scores were: Senior—Frosh—32-13; Senior—Soph.—27-7; Senior—Junior—10-8.

Those on the first team were: Violet Bisset, forward; Edith Brown, forward; Vivian Hickman, guard; Etta Frohning, guard; Peggy Starlund, center; Audrey Olson, side-center; Olga Byrns, substitute side-center, Inez Haberly, substitute center.

The girls from Monroe taking part in the University of Washington annual play day on March 8, were: Adah Asher, captain, Vivian Hickman, Edith Brown, Alice Mathey, Olga Byrns, Marion Nixon, Maxine Hewitt, Violet Bisset, Enis Roselli, Anna Bevenese, Anna Bump. Violet Bisset received third place in the State for posture.

Baseball and Track, Managers, Alice Lundeberg and Olga Byrns.

The meet was held in Snohomish with Snohomish directing track; Monroe, Baseball, and Index Horseshoe. The girls were allowed to enter only three events, besides the relay.

Tennis—Manager, Vivian Hickman

A girls' tournament was held and the best teams represented the school at the meets held between the schools. In the tournament the doubles were won by Adah Asher and Peggy Starlund and singles by Inez Haberley.

To win an award in Girls' Athletics you must earn 500 points and be on one major team. The first award, which is an orange and black numeral. The second award is an orange M on a black background and is awarded after earning 1000 points. A black M on the orange background is the third award and is given for 1500 points. After earning 2000 points a gold pin is awarded and a felt pillow is given for 2500 points which is the fifth award.

A place on first team is 100 points; second team, 50; turnout and health chart, 25; present at Sports Day, 25; manager 50; assistant manager, 25; and hikes, bicycling and skating count a certain number of points a mile.

Those earning awards this year are Mildred Byrns, Margaret Hartzell, Leona Jones, Uvona McCormick, Maxine Hewitt, Evelyn Theiss, Marjorie Donovan, Etta Frohning, Dorothy Bump, Anna Hansen and Lillian Sjolander, all earning first awards. Lucile Smith, earning a second, Edith Brown, Isabell McGinn, Margaret Palmer, Peggy Starlund and Audrey Olson receiving third awards. Adah Asher, Violet Bisset, Vivian Hickman, Alice Mathey and Olga Byrns were awarded gold pins and Anna Bump a felt pillow.

GIRLS' CLUB

The Girls' Club is a social organization, which has in its membership high school girls. It is controlled by a cabinet composed of a president, Audrey MacDougall; vice-president, Rea Wright; secretary, Harriet Rosenzweig; treasurer, Alda White; a representative from each class: Senior, Maxine Hewitt; Junior, Isabell McGinn; Sophomore, Evelyn Thomas; and Freshman, Lillie Peterson; and an adviser, Miss Ruth Norgaard.

The first activity this year was the Freshman reception, with the purpose of welcoming the new girls and helping them to become acquainted. Each senior girl was intrusted with the care of a freshman girl, who was to be her "little sister" for her first year at high school. This year at Christmas time the Girls' Club sent a large box of rag dolls and stuffed animals to the Orthopedic Hospital in Seattle. During the spring, a Mother and Daughter Banquet is usually held.

The club meetings are held the first Wednesday of each month and after the regular business the remainder of the hour is spent in educational talks by various speakers or by a program which is given by the girls.

BOY'S CLUB

The Boys' Club was founded by Mr. Mahaffey, principal, in 1927. It was organized for the purpose of establishing a spirit of fellowship among the boys. The club is under the supervision of a faculty adviser, and a council consisting of a president, secretary, treasurer, and two boys, from each class. The council plans the activities for the club, such as vocational speeches, a movie and a father and son banquet. This year, besides putting on several programs, they organized a ping pong tournament.

The officers for the year, 1929-30 are as follows:

Faculty adviser—Mr. Osborn.

President—Dick Hillis.

Secretary—Ralph Jacobson.

Treasurer—Allan Borlin.

Senior Representatives—Delver Henderson, Walter Gatterman.

Freshman Representatives—Fred McGinn, Bill Crockett.

TORCH SOCIETY

The Torch Society began its eighth year in Monroe High School under the guidance of Mrs. Reardon and Mr. Hardin as advisers. At the first meeting held September 26, 1929, Harriet Rosenzweig was elected president, Doris Bayly, vice-president, Rea Wright, secretary and Irene Elwell, treasurer. The most important event of the year was the Initiation Party held at the High School, October 17. This affair was a party and initiation combined to which the parents were invited.

A plan to have a committee to urge better scholarship among the Freshmen was suggested. With this in mind the society gave the Freshmen, on the honor roll, a party on April 5.

Another project which the Society planned to undertake was that of publishing the Torch Light, the monthly paper edited by different torch societies and published by Clint W. Lee Company of Seattle. This plan could not be carried out as the paper ceased publication.

Unfortunately the society has been rather inactive this year, but it is hoped that they will be able to carry on some active project in the future.

THE GLEE CLUBS

The Girls' Glee Club and the Boys' Glee Club in addition to the Girls' Trio and the Boys' Quartet make up the music department. They each meet for two hours a week under the direction of Miss Mary Torrey.

The girls elected Christine Peterson as president of their Glee Club and Maxine Hewitt as secretary-treasurer. The Girls' Glee Club is asked to sing for many affairs both inside and outside of school. For the County Glee Club Contest held at Snohomish, April 16, twenty of the best singers were chosen to represent Monroe. The songs they sang were "To Spring" by Grieg, and "Within a Dreaming Harbor." All including the director and the accompanist were dressed alike in white voile dresses made exactly alike, with triangular scarves of the school colors, orange and black. The Girls' Trio is composed of Christine Peterson, soprano, Margaret Isacson, second soprano, and Sylvia Schwartz, alto. In the County Contest they sang "Morning" and "A Bowl of Roses."

The Boys' Glee Club meets every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Keith MacDougall was elected for official librarian. They do not do any singing outside of school; however, they are represented at most gatherings by their excellent quartet. The quartet is composed of Dick Hillis, a golden-voiced tenor, Alex Law, whom most everyone knows by his yodeling, Gerald Wynhoff, who sings first bass, and Wilbert McCormick, the second bass. These boys also entered the County Glee Club Contest and sang "That Sweet Little Woman O' Mine," and "Duna."

MONROE AGRICULTURE CLUB

The Agriculture club is a vocational club whose members are those boys enrolled in agriculture. The club which meets on the third Wednesday of each month, endeavors to get, as speaker for each meeting, some leader in a particular field of agriculture to talk about his work.

The club carries on many activities each year. It is a member of a state organization for the growing and marketing of certified seed potatoes, and it grows co-operatively, several acres of certified potatoes, the proceeds of which go to help the club members with their projects. In addition to sponsoring a school fair to aid the county in gathering material for the Western Washington Fair, it also sponsors a judging team for livestock and another for potatoes. Each year three boys are selected and sent for a week's work at Washington State College with their traveling expenses paid by the Great Northern Railway.

The club held its annual Father and Son banquet on November 22. An annual Clam Dig on the Islands is also held in the late spring.

This year the Ag Club has a membership of thirty-three under the following leaders: Sidney Johnson, president; Walter Lundeberg, secretary; Mark Olson, treasurer; Kenneth Countryman, cub reporter; and Mr. Chester Lybecker, adviser.

In the near future the club will consider applying for admission as "Future Farmers of America."

DRAMA

JUNIOR PLAY

The first dramatic event of the year was the Junior play, "The Whole Town's Talking," which was presented on Friday, December 13, 1929, and which proved to be very successful in spite of superstitions to the contrary. The production was marked by its swift action and human and convincing characterization.

The role of the prevaricating and erring husband, Henry Simmons, was taken by Keith MacDougall. Harriet Simmons, his suspicious wife, was played by Lorraine Covell. The plot centers around the attempt of Mr. Simmons to marry his daughter, Ethel, to his junior partner in business, Chester Binney. Evelyn Tucker as the charming Ethel Simmons opposes this marriage because Chester (Homer Lanning in real life) has not "sown his wild oats." Vivian Mathey portrayed Letty Lythe, a temperamental motion picture actress, whom Mr. Simmons introduces as a former sweetheart of Mr. Binney. When it is found that Letty Lythe appears in person at the local theatre and Mr. Simmons fears discovery of the false love affair, more complications arise.

Other members of the cast were: Sadie Bloom, Mildred Coles; Roger Shields, Wilfred Bates; Donald Swift, Guy Fields; Lila Wilson, Georgina Trabont; Sally Otis, Alpha Nelson; Annie, the maid, Ann Jenette Drew; Taxicab driver, Sidney Johnson; Mrs. Jackson and girls, Alda White, Kathryn Lobdell, Rea Wright and Marguerite Lillemoen.

Special credit is due both to the cast and to the production staff for the fine success the play achieved. Miss Betty Carman, assisted by Miss Mary Torrey, directed the production.

SENIOR PLAY

"Second Childhood," the senior play, was presented with great success by the senior class March 14, 1930 under the direction of Miss Betty Carman.

Allan Borlin, as professor Relyea, and Dick Hillis as his scientific pupil, attempt to discover the Elixir of Youth. An old General, Emory Donovan, is in love with the Professor's daughter, Sylvia, (played by Doris Bayly) but she refuses him because of his age. The scientists induce him to try the Elixir but during their absence the General spills the Elixir and abruptly leaves the house. A poor woman (Alice Mathey) unable to support her baby, enters and leaves it on the sofa where the General was last seen. The scientists return and to them it is apparent that the General has turned into a baby. But their joys turn to sorrow when they find that because of this, they are charged with numerous crimes.

At this point the Professor's daughter, who is taking care of a neighbor's baby, suddenly disappears, leaving an empty Elixir bottle and the baby behind. It is then believed that the daughter too, has been transformed, but in the end their mistakes are discovered and the audience witnesses an unusually happy and humorous ending.

The characters in the play included: Professor Relyea, Allan Borlin; Phil Stanton (his assistant), Dick Hillis; Auntie (his sister), Helen Dickinson; Sylvia (his daughter), Doris Bayly; General Burbeck, Emory Donovan; Marcella, Alice Mathey; Mrs. Vivvert, Florence Dahlgren; Judge Sanderson, Delver Henderson; Mrs. Sanderson, Martha Bergman; Sheriff, Walter Gatterman; Lucile, Harriet Rosenzweig; Deputy sheriff, Ralph Jacobson.

"MISS CHERRYBLOSSOM"

The dramatic season of 1929-30 ended with great success with the presentation of "Miss Cherryblossom," a musical comedy given by the Music Department under the direction of Miss Mary Torrey.

The story centered around Miss Evelyn Barnes (played by Christine Peterson) an American girl born in Japan, whose parents have died of fever, and who is brought up as a Japanese maiden. Her father's friend, Worthington, uses her proerty for his own ends. When Evelyn, who is known as Cherryblossom, is about eighteen, Worthington (Emory Donovan) returns to Japan with a party of American friends. One of them, John Henry Smith falls in love with Cherry and wishes to marry her, but Kokemo (Wilbert McCormick) who has brought her up as his own daughter, wishes her to marry Togo, a rich politician (Roy Borlin). Jack's efforts to outwit Togo and Kokemo make the comedy an unusually interesting one.

The cast of characters includes:

Cherryblossom
Kokemo
John Henry Smith
Harry Foster Jones
Horace Worthington
James Young
Jessica Vanderpool
Togo
Geisha Girls

Christine Peterson

American girls and men, as guests of Mr. Worthington, visiting Japan.

Effective use of lanterns in the lighting system helped to make an attractive setting of the quaint old Japanese tea garden where all three acts took place. Catchy tunes, amusing lines, and colorful choruses all helped in making this comedy one long to be remembered.

TREASURE-TROVE

D R A M A

Dramatics has deservedly become an important activity at Monroe High School. The plays this year have all been praiseworthy, both from an educational and from an entertaining standpoint. Many roles were played in a manner worth of professionals. Sufficient proof of the worth of the productions is offered by the excellent support that all enjoyed.

In addition to the play productions several programs conducted by the various classes before the assembly deserve mention. The Torch Society under the direction of Mrs. Reardon presented an appropriate program on Armistice Day. Addresses from Lloyd Black of Everett and H. J. Marion were the outstanding numbers on the program. Both the Freshmen program given on St. Patrick's Day, conducted by Miss Clark, and the Lincoln-Washington program given by the Sophomores under the direction of Miss West were well received. A Christmas program wherein every class contributed selections was also given. The Biology class, with Miss Anderson's help, presented the Arbor Day program. The De Moss Concert Ensemble provided an hour's entertainment for the entire student body. This consisted of the five members of the De Moss family, and the numbers given on their various instruments proved very entertaining. During the year the speakers who addressed the students included Mr. Twitmire, state inspector of schools; Richard Hedrick; Signor Barone, who is touring the world with his dog and donkey; and Mr. Schwartz, a former resident of Russia, who related his experiences as a prisoner in Siberia and showed a costume he had worn while there.

Each year marks a great growth and improvement in the quality of the work produced. This year much of the credit is due to Miss Betty Carman, head of the Departments of Speech and English. As a new member of the faculty her work, especially in the play productions, was most commendable. Her dramatic ability was made manifest both in her teaching and directing.

Then come the representatives of the classes. The first semester the Freshmen aren't allowed representatives to the Board of Control, but let the sensible and able-minded Seniors look out for their affairs. The second semester, however, it is generally agreed that if two Freshmen—one boy and one girl—are found that show more or less intelligence along the line of politics they may attend the meetings of the mighty Board of Control. They may "listen in," and if they dare, put in a word here and there. After a great deal of searching two such Freshmen were chosen. Lillie Peterson was elected to stand up for the Freshman girls and Fred McGinn was to do the same for the Freshman boys. Fred and Lillie may not be very large in stature, but one must consider their nationalities. It has always been our personal opinion that the Irish and the Swedes make a good combination.

The members of the Association used exceptionally good judgment and chose Alberta Fuller to represent the Sophomore girls and Norman White to represent the Sophomore boys.

Christine Peterson and Keith MacDougall were chosen to represent the Junior Class. Here again we find that famous Swede and Irish combination—or is it Scotch instead of Irish? We guess it doesn't make much difference, for as we once heard Dick Hillis say: "A Scotchman is just an Irishman with his brains knocked out."

With their usual good taste the students selected Alice Mathey and Every other Thursday morning a group of boys and girls representing the students meet with Mr. Hardin and Mr. Mahaffey to discuss the weighty affairs of the school. This group is known as the Board of Control, and the members are the officers of the Student Association—the President of the Student Body, the Vice President, the Secretary, and the Treasurer—and a boy and girl representative from each class in school.

The President of the Student Body must be a member of the Senior Class, and the Vice President must also be a member of this class. The Secretary and Treasurer may be chosen from either the Junior or Senior Class.

Allan Borlin, the President of the Associated Students, presides over the meetings. Richard ("Dick") Hillis occupies the seat of the Vice President, to the extreme right of the Emory Donovan as Senior representatives. Here we find again a Swede and an Irishman. Emory is noted for his famous discussion on the subject of "Baseball." This tendency toward discussion is particularly marked when there is a meeting the second period and Emory hasn't his lesson for his next period class.

The Board of Control budgets the money taken in from the Student Association fees. It authorizes all equipment and articles bought, and appropriates the money to pay for everything purchased. It accept recommendations from the Coach for all athletic awards, and votes on whether or not the players should receive letters. Also this year through the efforts of the Board the High School had charge of the Monroe Theatre for one evening and in this way replenished the treasury with some sadly needed funds.

All officers and representatives on the Board are nominated and elected by the members of the Student Association. To be a member one must be a student of this High School and must have paid his annual fee of $3.00. This $3.00 includes class dues, a subscription to the Oracle, the right to nominate and vote, and a season ticket to all the athletic home games. At the beginning of this year a campaign for 100% membership to the Association was waged. The Seniors, who have been in school for a year longer than the others, felt the need of a vacation so they worked hard and earned the first prize—a half day holiday. The Juniors came very close to revealing their nationality when they held their membership out until first prize had been claimed and then became 100% in order to win the second prize of $10.00. As neither the Sophomore or Freshman class became 100% a third prize was not awarded.

For the last ten years Monroe has had Student Government in the High School, and as each year has passed the system has been improved and now has been made into the most important factor of the school.

THE ORACLE

Real news, live jokes, announcements, sports, inspiring editorials—these are but a few of the things that have characterized the Oracle for the past year, and made it a forceful reminder that the Monroe Union High School is a live school—that its faculty and students are actually accomplishing things.

Beginning in 1925, the Oracle has been published monthly during each school term and has endeavored from year to year to make itself more representative of school life, more interesting and more worth-while in every way. The organization of the Oracle has differed from year to year, but the general principle is to have an editor, business manager and a staff, all who come from the Journalism class which meets this year twice a week under the supervision of Miss Betty Carman.

For the school term of 1929-1930 the editorial staff was headed by Delver Henderson, the editor-in-chief, who had charge of the editorials, principal's and superintendent's corners, and collected news for each issue. Alice Rogers, the assistant editor, had charge of the distributing of all work to the different departments and checking over it as it came in ready for the press.

Under the business management of the paper came the business manager Dick Hillis, who had charge of all money received and taken out of the fund and of the advertising staff, which consisted of Armand Swanson, Ralph Jacobson, Sidney Johnson, and Keith MacDougall. This group's work was to collect all the advertisements they could from the business places in the town and to keep adding more to the list each issue.

The rest of the class was divided into departments, which dealt with the different phases of school life and to the perfecting of the paper before it was printed. They were: Humor and feature—Marion Nixon, Marguerite Lillemoen and Mildred Coles; Class activities—Donald Hillis; Club activities—Kathryn Lobdell and Mary Valk; Music and Dramatics—Alda White and Alpha Nelson; Girls' Athletics—Peggy Starlund and Adah Asher; Exchange and personals—Doris Bayly; Boys' Athletics—Allan Borlin; Head reporter, Harriet Hahn; Proof readers—Ella Cook and Bert Armstrong; Head writers—Lorraine Covell, Marie Clancy and Marjorie Taylor.

At the beginning of the year there were not enough students enrolled in the class to put out an Oracle, so students called "cub reporters" from each class were selected to help with the paper. They were: Kenneth Countryman, Ralph Jacobson, Hazel Odell, Margaret Hartzell, Harriet Rosenzweig, Fred McGinn, Clyde Shuler, Harry Bloor, and Guy Fields.

Because of lack of funds only five issues were put out this year, and the rest of the time was spent in studying the principles of Journalism.

On January 24, the class sponsored the movie, "Freckles," by Gene Stratton Porter. Vaudeville acts were given before the movie by the talent of the class. They were: "Wreck of the Hesperus," and the "Dance of the Newspapers." The Boys' Quartet sang, "I'm a Dreamer" and "I Love You Truly."

Financially, the paper has not been a great success, but the experience gained from the study of all the canons of Journalism has more than made up for it.

CLASS PROPHECY

BY A. M. AND R. H.

As I sat by the fire and my mind wandered—one little flame seemed to dance and play before me, as I stared, it took the shape of Myron Barter, one of my old classmates. There he stood, the same old Myron, only now a matured man. We chatted a few minutes of old times. He told me that he was a globe trotter, so I asked him if, during all his travels, he had chanced to run into any of the members of our graduating class of '30. He told me that he had made it his duty to go to visit each and every one of our former classmates.

"A couple of years ago, in New York," he said, "while waiting for my steamer, I chanced to pass Madison Square Gardens, and there to my astonishment, I met Audrey MacDougall. She told me she had now taken Tex Rickard's place and was promoting prize fights. And, during our conversation she said that Emory Donovan and Ed Danielson were sparring partners for her coming champion, who was also a former Monroe graduate. After bidding her good-bye, I hurried on as I had to catch the steamer.

"Right in front of me I saw, in blazing headlines, a name that rang familiar, 'Marion Nixon.' Upon investigation I found that I was in front of the Roxy Theatre. Upon going to the ticket office to inquire further, who should be taking tickets but Maxine Hewitt! She told me that she had married Walter Lundberg, and that he had made about the best husband she had had so far. To go on with the story—she said that I could talk to Marian by getting permission from the manager.

"After my card was sent in, who should greet me but the manager's secretary, Charles Lund. He ushered me into a large, spacious office and there sat the manager, no other than Delver Henderson, a tall and stately-looking man. He seemed very glad to see me and gave me permission to interview his stars. As I turned to leave the office, Marian Nixon herself stood in the doorway. After greeting me she asked me if I had seen any of the rest of the girls. Upon asking her whom she meant, she said that Lillian Sjolander, Irene Elwell, and Irene Hocum were also stars, who had reached fame under the lights of the 'Roxy.' This, indeed, was all pleasant news.

"I was so interested that I had forgotten my boat. I said a hurried good-bye and rushed down to the docks. As the passport inspector stopped me, he spoke my name. It was Wilbert McCormick. This was a surprise, as I had really expected to find him in Paris, singing grand opera, taking the place of his uncle, John McCormick.

"After boarding the ship I took out my binoculars and focused them on the Statue of Liberty. I could make out a figure, slowly scaling the up-raised arm, trying to reach the torch. 'How unusual' I exclaimed, not talking to anyone in particular, but just thinking out loud. The captain of the ship, noticing my interest, informed me that the man was the world's newest sensation, as a human fly. He told me his name was Bob Nelson, an old friend of his who had been married for three years and was strong for the old saying 'Give me liberty or give me death.' On turning to tell him that Bob Nelson was an old friend of mine, also, I saw that the captain was Walter Gatterman. Aside from some enjoyable talks with Captain Gatterman, the trip from here on to London was very uneventful. I almost forgot to say that the Captain's boss, and wife, Lucile McKenzie, was on the ship too.

"After getting off the boat I went up to the court of St. James. Here I found Edna Micheau and Florence Dahlgren, as ladies-in-waiting to the queen. While on my way to Germany I learned that Edgar Olson was keeping the home fires burning and was now President of the Irish Free State. In Germany I was fortunate in getting to hear Madame Sylvia Schwartz sing. Later while walking down the street, I noticed that they were having trouble on the opposite corner. Soon I saw that a Sauerkraut eating contest was in full sway and, to my surprise, Dorothy Boyd stood foremost with both hands full.

"After leaving Germany, I went to Amsterdam, where my greatest thrill came from the Olympic Games, especially, since Allan Borlin and Anna Bump were the two leading U. S. track stars. Allan was running the fifty-yard marathon, and Anna was doing the standing high jump. I then made my way to Russia and after many months of searching, I decided to go on. But, one day, just as I was leaving Russia, I noticed a very beautiful painting. It was signed, Milton. Upon going to see the artist I found it was Milton Kjelland. He had married Mary Valk and together they had risen to fame.

"Several months later when I was in China, I met Kenneth Countryman, who was a missionary. He greeted me warmly, and told me that in Palestine and Paris I would find more of our classmates. In Palestine I found Audrey Olson counting shekles, and, after several weeks of searching in Paris, I ran across Wilbert Theiss and Edith Brown, honeymooning. A few days later I found Doris Bayly, a model in a great style show, and she had her nine children helping her. Then I went down to Spain, where I heard that Ruth Kauffman and Harriet Rosenzweig had talked themselves into certain positions the past leap year.

"In Africa were Don Hillis and Helen Dickinson. Their excuse for being there was that marriage licenses were free. In the Sahara Desert, I found Ralph Jacobson running a ski factory.

"Then I journeyed to Australia, where I found Hazel O'dell, a shepherdess. She told me that she was getting in practice for Shakespear's next pastoral. My journey next took me to the Phillippine Islands where Filemon Evangelista was making a tour of the Islands, orating on lettuce. I then went to Florida. While there I stopped at Barnum, Bailey, Ringling Bros. winter training quarters. Here I saw Irving Faussett training as a "Bally Hoo Man" for a side show, and Olga Byrns playing basket ball with some trained seals. After going a little farther north, I found Martha Bergman as president of Vassar College. From Vassar I went toward Niagara Falls, where I found Lillian Gatterman tight-rope walking over the Falls. Next, I headed toward Texas, and on the way learned that Inis Pownall had bought out Clara Schwartz's interest in the U. S. Cap and Gown Corporation. In Texas Mark Olson had become a rich cattle dealer, and had taken as a wife, Martha Manschreck.

"Next, to Hollywood! There was Alice Rogers trying to equal the reputation of her brother, Charles "Buddy" Rogers. Next I made my way to Alaska where I found Harriet Hahn married to an eskimo. Then, to return to Seattle I ran into our class adviser, Mrs. Reardon, who was aiding in managing the largest shoe store on the coast. I told her all I have just been telling you. But, there is one I haven't seen and that is Alice Mathey."

"Oh, she is here with me—my wife. Here she comes now, Myron." Myron told us that he was not a bit surprised to find us here, for he had become used to strange things from the others.

"What? Alice, did you say? 'Wake up!—then—I've only been dreaming—but what a dream!"

What a wonderful evening this has been,
And I have enjoyed all of it so.
The memories of old times and friends
And the days of long ago.
