FOREWORD

Before the glass of publication, trained across the plains of time, is held in review again the caravan of yesterday, presenting to you a record of Monroe, a chronicle of her history mirrored in this written record, which is an outgrowth of the advancement in community educational facilities. This record preserves in part thoughts which in days to come will be fond memories — memories of carefree student days — memories of hearty friendships and achievements.

DEDICATION

Mr. Henry C. Frohning, for years a faithful servant of his community, has entered a new kingdom, a realm of wisdom far higher than ours. It is he to whom we dedicate this volume, perpetuating by our memory of him the dauntless courage of his fathers—the pioneers—with the hope in mind that we may more fully appreciate the legacy they have left us—the bequest of liberty, justice and opportunity forever.

In Memoriam

With due reverence and respect for the greater things of life, we pause a moment to pay just tribute to the indomitable courage of the pioneers, the men who sought not the fountain of youth nor the river of gold, but life, peace and happiness for themselves and their posterity.

HISTORICAL FLICKERS

To the hurrying traveler, to the casual passerby, and in many cases to the resident, seldom comes the thought of the various stages of development and the periods of transformation through which the City of Monroe has passed in reaching the present high state of utility, wealth and beauty among the cities of Snohomish County.

One of the most interesting facts pertaining to the history surrounding the present City of Monroe is the evolution of names through which it has passed in attaining the title it now holds. It has held at one time or another the names of Park Place, Monroe, Wales, Tye, and again Monroe, as will be seen in the following history.

It was in 1870 when a certain Salem Woods, after trekking into this valley of wonderful beauty and fertility, attempted to start a settlement at the forks of the Skykomish and Snoqualmie rivers. He called it Park Place, and the name still holds today. However, he was not to be called the "father" of Monroe, for it was not until October, 1889, when J. A. Vanasdlen had started the first store at Park Place that the spot was known to the outside world. The first postoffice was given the name Monroe with Mr. Vanasdlen as postmaster. During the years 1889 to 1891 Monroe, or Park Place as it was then called, business firms consisted of the Ladd & Eliot

Hotel, the blacksmith shop of George Beton, the grocery store of J. W. Halvert, the Shannahan & Chitwood Butcher Shop and the John Johnson Hotel.

First to actually locate Monroe, J. A. Vanasdlen was also the first to relocate in the new site. Here he and John Stretch platted the new town which was called Wales by the Great Northern authorities, but which was changed to Tye City, for the man who, he says, was the real locating engineer of the Great Northern Railway. This town, platted on the homestead of John Stretch, thrived steadily until the depression of 1893 when the general development was halted for a few years.

About 1891 a fire destroyed the entire business block of Monroe at an approximate loss of $36,700; the buildings were restored at once. Then in 1902 the town was incorporated in the name of Monroe. Within the next 15 years its population grew to about 1,500, five times the population at the time of its incorporation.

Monroe is the natural gateway to the majestic Cascades from the west and a gateway to Puget Sound and the Pacific from the east; it has within a radius of a few miles a variety of scenery, natural resources and natural transportation facilities as can scarcely be found elsewhere.

MESSAGE

The people of the community, through their chosen representatives, the school board, provide buildings, equipment and books for the students—a slight part in the scheme of education. The school board in turn hopes that the students can and will make the most of these material things in building up higher ideals and developing better citizenship.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

H. L. SQUIBB
SUPERINTENDENT

The body and the mind, the soul and the intellect are alike our concern. We have tried to provide only those things that contribute to normal life and bodily vigor; to moral and mental strength and integrity.

We hope that through the experiences of life in high school you have acquired habits and ideals that will help you meet the future needs of life more fully and upon a higher level.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

MARGUERITE REARDON
PRINCIPAL

The modern high school is one of the greatest opportunities and privileges offered to boys and girls. With this opportunity and privilege goes one responsibility. It is the requirement that you make good use of your opportunity by turning it to account in the development of yourself through the development of all the characteristics that go toward making honorable and worthy citizens of a community and nation.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Westward Ho! Surmounting the last ridge that would take these sturdy pioneers of '32 in the fields of wordly accomplishments that lay beyond them, they gradually descended to seek new adventures.

After progressing steadily for the last four years of their journey, that has been marked by scholastic and social achievements, the class presents to you a review of the past four seasons of their experiences.

The discoverers of the West gathered around their worthy scouts, Mr. Howell and Mr. Osborn, to bid them their last farewell, and sighting within the rays of the setting sun a radiant beam of glory that had followed them from the first stride of advancement.

The sun was sinking, but not on the hopes and aspirations of the class of '32.

The pioneers' last three settlements took the name of settlement '29, '30, '31. In each of these settlements a number of events occurred during their history.

In the settlement of '29 the historical events were a St. Patrick's Day program, an initiation by some pioneers that were accustomed to the West, and lastly a picnic at Lake Stevens.

In the next settlement which was '30, a Christmas tree was presented to the other three surrounding settlements, a Lincoln Day program, honors were won in inter-settlement track meets and the annual picnic was the last happening.

When the '31 year was over the following events had taken place: A Junior-Senior banquet, a play "It Happened In Hollywood," and trailing this, a picnic.

Now that the settlement of '32 is ready to list its happenings the following events will be named: A sensational play, directed by the loyal scout, Mr. Howell, "The Haunted House," the settlement's rings and pictures, the annual ball, Sneak Day, Class Week, with Class Day and Night and the final meetings, Baccalaureate and Commencement.

Now that you have heard the past pioneer days we will turn a few pages ahead and see what those heroic pioneers of '32 are now doing. Listen and you shall learn their fate.

You Norman White, as you have led your class in the last year of this tiresome journey so shall you lead the life of a business executive.

Uvona McCormick, yell leader at Notre Dame; Edna Borlin, housekeeping in Tualco; Lucy Bevensee, joining the movies; Ramona Brown, Metropolitan opera singer; Dorothy Bump, teaching girls how to blush; Marie Clancy, business manager of "Hooey"; Marjorie Donovan, tight-rope walker in a circus; Alice Finke, manufacturing bill folds and leather goods; Nellie French, forewoman at Frye's Lettuce Farm; Alberta Fuller, cashier at First National Bank; Margaret Hartzell, living in Swede Town; Marie Howell, taking her family for a ride in a green car; Annie Isacson, "It" girl in Hollywood; Dagmar Johnson, watching the lettuce grow; Leona Jones, half interest in a Chevrolet; Phyllis Letteer, working at Berry Farm; Lucille Main, teaching dancing in the Spanish Ballroom in Snyder Hotel; Lucille O'Dell and Frank Masterjohn, giving permanent waves; Emma Peterson, telling her grandchildren how good it is to eat mush; Lucille Smith, South Sea Islands, and teaching the natives how to play basket ball; Evelyn Theiss, a successful farmerette; Evelyn Thomas, Professor at U. of Wagners; Iola Walters and Eleanore Watkins, stenographers for H. Gibson and R. James; Bill Bratton, editor of Index Daily Blah; Roger Bailey, salesman for Dodge 'Em & Live; Roy Hallstrom, yelling "Who will buy my books"; Norman Hartzell, teaching the F. F. A.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for a supreme class in the vicinity of Monroe to sever itself from its alma mater, the hearts of the three remaining classes are heavy and their eyes are dimmed with tears. Let it then be known that the aforesaid class has left something for the mourning classes—especially that noble group who will next year take the place of this year's seniors—as nearly as any class can fill the huge vacancy.

To the faculty we leave our best wishes for future years of teaching, and we hope their students prove as apt and able as we have been.

Bill Bratton leaves to his successor, Jay Lanning, his aggressive ability and common sense.

To Melvin Mullet, Clyde Shuler bequeathes his marvelous physique.

Sid Johnson wills to Bruno Rosselli his virile personality.

Edna Borlin leaves a pleasing personality and the Presidency of the Girls' Club.

Marie Clancy wills to Mary Williams her managing powers.

Francis Nixon exchanges a few of his excess brains for a "gift of gab."

Phyllis Letteer wills to Inez Haberly her timid actions.

Ramona Brown, Dagmar Johnson and Emma Peterson leave Miss Torrey a fond memory of squeaky notes and weird noises.

Lyle Reaper and Norman White wish on to the school a song and dance which never will be.

Margaret Hartzell and Annie Isacson leave to the school at large a hair treatment.

Evelyn Theiss leaves Mrs. Young a new idea of an athlete.

Marjorie Donovan leaves Alma Dahl an Irish temperament and a new reducing formula.

Bob Smith gives Ellery Jellison a few tips on how to woo and win a girl.

Eleanore Watkins wishes to leave a good Ford and driver to any unfortunate next year.

Marie Howell bequeathes to some rising youth the whole office with Mrs. Reardon and Mr. Squibb as dictators.

To Edna Stucky, Alberta Fuller and Lucille Main leave the idea on managing and putting over a senior ball.

Lucille O'Dell leaves a pleasant memory of two blue eyes to a sophomore boy.

Nellie French bequeathes her typewriter and talent as a typist to Bertha Wolf.

Leona Jones leaves the Monday-Wednesday gym class in an uproar.

Ejnar Johnson grants Vernon Broughton his untiring efforts in playing football.

John Nelson wills to William Hegewald the beneficial art of hatching chickens.

Roger Bailey presents his hardened character and tough traits to the remaining desperados from Wagner Wilson.

Lucy Bevensee will leave her unknown power of asking questions to any Junior.

Dorothy Bump and Alice Finke will give full instructions to any Junior on how to blush when in a tight fix.

Roy Hallstrom leaves instructions to Fred Jellison on how to develop the mind as well as the body.

Uvona McCormick presents a true secret to the lovers of a mighty basket ball star "never keep a Fox from the door".

Frank Masterjohn will leave a portion of his grit to any unfortunate bone crusher for next Fall.

Norman Hartzell wills to Lyle Smith the knack of how to make a "porker" retain its girlish figure.

Don Kennon presents to Ray Olson the position which he has held for four years on basket ball and football teams.

Lucille Smith wills to "Tatty" Fox the package of Wrigley's that she started working on in the Fall of '31.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

The class of '33 entered their Junior year striving to further their education under the supervision of Mrs. MacDougall and Miss Torrey. The class was represented on the Board of Control by Mildred Byrns and Jack Orr for the first semester and for the second semester by Helen Johnson and Jay Lanning.

Those making the high school football team were Bill Crockett, Ray Dahl, Oscar Starlund, Fred Jellison, Robert McCord and Jack Orr. When the high school entered the basket ball season those on the first team from the Junior Class were Jack Orr, Albert Simmons and Oscar Starlund, while those making the second team were Bill Crockett, Clive Countryman, Ray Dahl, Robert McCord and Fred Jellison. The girls also showed athletic ability in their gymnasium classes.

There were many boys and girls in their respective glee clubs, of which Guy Fields and Ray Olson were selected to sing in the Boys' Quartet and La Donna Watkins was selected to sing in the Girls' Trio. Of these people, Guy Fields, Ray Olson, La Donna Watkins and Margaret Isacson were selected to be in the operetta. Inez Haberly took part in the Declamatory Contest held at Snohomish in the dramatic section.

Those in the Junior Class belonging to the Torch Society are Elvera Jacobson, Marion Hewitt, Leroy Drew, Clive Countryman, La Donna Watkins, Lois Pownall, Jay Lanning, Ella Micheau, Edna Stucky, Melvin Mullet and Kathryn Shrum.

The most interesting event of the year was the Junior play "Apple-sauce," which was very successfully given on March 4. Its success was furthered by Mr. Norman Howell's excellent direction and the brilliant acting of the cast.

Most attractive of all was the last event of the year, the Junior-Senior banquet, when we bade farewell to the Seniors. The committees and chairmen in charge were: Decorating, Kathryn Shrum; silver and tablecloths, La Donna Watkins; dishes, Elvera Jacobson; costumes, La Verne Fleming; program and invitations, Margaret Isacson, and putting up tables, Jack Orr. The banquet room was beautifully decorated in bi-centennial style with a white ceiling and red, white and blue sides. The tables were attractive in that they carried out the same idea, having hatchet place cards, cherry tree stumps for favors and silhouettes of Washington for menus.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

With the success of the first year in high school yet clear in their minds, the class of '34, eager and happy, gathered in the halls of the high school last fall to resume their scholastic advancements and many friendships that had been interrupted by the summer vacation. The class was fortunate in having Mrs. Young and Mr. Sackett designated as their advisors, under whose sponsorship the class got off to a flying start at the very beginning of the school year. This exemplary pace was maintained throughout the year by the class, in scholastic as well as in extra-curricular activities, bringing to it the favorable recognition of the entire school.

Many of the class took part in athletics. Seven girls won their class numeral awards. They were: Ovidia Korstad, Gertrude Cook, Lillie Schwartz, Caroline Nelson, Bessie Barker, Ruth Bevensee and Irene Trombley.

Jane Swan, one of the school yell leaders, was a member of this class, which was also represented in the Booster Club by Alma Dahl, Bessie Barker and Jane Swan.

The class was not without able representatives in the field of scholarship. In their studies they showed their ability. Nine students who have been successful in making the points necessary for membership in their first year in high school, were initiated into the Torch Honor Society. They were: Ruth Bevensee, Harriet Norberg, Ida

Bloor, Ellen Jensen, Esther Jenkins, Jewell Countryman, Helen Rosenzweig, Mary Layne and Ted Biderbost.

In all the high school entertainment they had an active share. Ten members participated in the music given by the boys' and girls' glee clubs and orchestra. Lillian Parker, by making a poster and a panel for the scene from Hamlet, contributed to publicity and art. Bill Owens, from manual training assisted with staging and Bessie Barker, Marion Fuller and Helen Rosenzweig took part in the folk dances.

The sophomore boys who earned letters in football and basketball were: Ellery Jellison, Eric Holmback, Ted Biderbost, Lewis Broughton, Bill Owens, Vernon Broughton. Ellery Jellison also played doubles in tennis. Darrell Santose of this class was one of the best pole vaulters of the school.

First team players from this class, in girls' speedball, volley ball and basketball, were Ruth Bevensee, Irene Trombley, Ovidia Korstad, Gertrude Cook, Lillie Schwartz and Bessie Barker.

The sophomore girls served at the annual Junior-Senior banquet held May 13, dressed appropriately in keeping with the Washington bi-centennial theme of the banquet. The girls who served were Bessie Barker, Jane Swan, Ruth Bevensee, Alma Dahl, Marion Fuller, Esther Jenkins, Ovidia Korstad, Lillie Schwartz, Helen Rosenzweig and Tressie Speaks.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

The Freshman class was composed of eighty-five members, a minority of which enrolled from outlying districts of Monroe and various parts of the state, the largest part coming from the Monroe Central School. These students were ably assisted in organizing by their advisors, Miss Marion Clark, Miss Esther Mehner and Mr. Glen Trail.

The Freshmen outshone the upper classes by obtaining more places on the honor roll than any other. Those acquiring the highest places were: Jane Lund, Ellen Holmback, Filomena Gustino and Vivian Rocks.

Many boys took part in the various athletics and Lee Orr succeeded in winning a letter in football. There was also a good turnout of the Freshmen for the county tennis meet. Several of the girls won places on the county all-star teams and they hope in the future to win honors for themselves and their school.

Among the class many members distinguished themselves by dancing, speaking and other arts. Filomena Gustino won several prizes given by the state with her outstanding work of art. Pablo Mendoza, a talented violinist, performed at a number of entertainments during the year.

Almost half of the boys in the class took up agriculture. These boys helped to organize a basket ball team, with Mr. Trail as instructor, and they won a few games from the midgets. At the Agricultural Banquet, Dick Watson gave a speech on the work of the Future Farmer's Association.

At the all-high school play parts were taken by Carroll Barlow, Douglas Swanson, Ernest Keck, Edward Hollier and Jack Howard.

The Freshman contribution to the Christmas program was a speech by Jane Lund and several violin selections by Pablo Mendoza.

"The class of 1935 was more than average and will continue to be so," predicted Thelma Olson, the class prophet, at the all-high school get-together held in the Autumn. At the same affair Betty Lane tap danced.

The class, with their advisors, celebrated the finish of an eventful year by holding a picnic at Lake Stevens. The day was spent in such enjoyments as boating, swimming and consuming a delicious lunch.

With the representation of the class in practically every activity on the extra-curricular roster of the school, it has been the combined wish of the class to follow in the footsteps of the upper classes in extending and developing, to the fullest extent, the interests of the students in their school. The aim of the class next year will be to make even more outstanding the class of '34 among its fellows.

AN APPRECIATION

Mr. Draper, though a part of the school system for the first time this year, has proven to be an individual of high merit to that organization, for all those with whom he daily comes in contact. His willingness and capability in answer to every distress call has won for him common favor. In the greater development of the school his services have been very essential and his aptitude always welcome.

This opportunity is taken to express sincere gratitude to "Bill" for his splendid service and kindnesses on behalf of the students.

FOOTBALL

With "all for one and one for all" as the true Bearcat motto, the football squad, under Coach Sackett, served their school in a very favorable fashion by winning four and losing four games throughout the season. In every way it seemed the Bearcats were better than in former years. They fought harder against bigger teams, they fought cleaner, and in return received the hearty support of the whole town as well as the school.

Their new coach, Mr. Manley Sackett, gave them coaching which belies the results of the season from the number of games won. With his tactics and support and the spirit of the players a team was molded capable of making any school proud. Future possibilities for a "winner" next year are greatly due to the wealth of experienced players left.

The first game was played at Bothell. The Bearcats lost, 6-0. Bothell scored their lone touchdown with a forward pass late in the fourth quarter.

The Bearcats won the second game played with Marysville at Monroe. They looked like a championship club and were well on their way for a second score when the final whistle blew.

On October 16 Monroe took the Snoqualmie eleven into camp on their home grounds. Again the Bearcats showed real fight by scoring three times while Snoqualmie did not even threaten to score.

One week later, October 23, the Bearcats and the Cubs defeated the East Stanwood team on the Stanwood field. The Bearcats started the game while the Cubs finished it. When the final whistle blew the score was 20-6.

On October 30 the Bearcats played Stanwood at Monroe. The Bearcats put up a real fight in this game but lacked the punch for a touchdown. When the game ended the score was 6-0 in favor of Stanwood.

On November 6 Monroe met an old rival at Monroe. This game was played in a sea of mud. Monroe played a good game against the Panthers. Snohomish earned one touchdown while the other two came on breaks, which made the final score 18-0.

One week after this Monroe journeyed to Edmonds. The Bearcats did not show any first class ball that day, although it was a good game from the sidelines. Monroe lost, 6-0.

Thanksgiving Day, as some of the boys had not had enough football, the Bearcats met some of the former Bearcats. Monroe showed these former Bearcats how the youngsters of today play ball. The high school was outweighed but not outplayed. The final score of the final game was High School, 13; Alumni, 0.

Judging on the basis of number of games won and the support of the team, Monroe has a bright outlook for future years.

BASKET BALL

The 1932 basket ball season of Monroe can be classed as the most unusual season they have ever had. They played ten conference games and a few games with teams not belonging to the conference. Each one of these games that the Bearcats went into was played with the true Bearcat spirit and the opposing teams all realized the feel of 'Cat claws.

Sixteen young men turned out for basket ball. Coach Manley Sackett drilled these men especially hard because most all of them had just finished a hard season on the gridiron and only a few had any experience as hoopsters. A big handicap was realized by the boys who were playing a new game in which their rough tactics could not be used. Despite this drawback they made untiring efforts and later on developed into a good basket ball team, a group of hard fighters. Lettermen being lost by graduation in 1931 left only one first team man of experience to build on, Ejnar Johnson.

The boys who turned out are as follows: Ejnar Johnson, guard, who played a close checking game; Oscar Starlund, guard, and also a good checker; forwards: Donald Kennon, Ellery Jellison, Albert Simmons, William Crockett, Vernon Broughton and Norman White, all of whom were regular basket pluggers; Jack Orr, a tall young man who took care of the center post in fine style. The second team players were: Ray Dahl, Richard Watson, Lee Orr, guards; Lewis Broughton, William Owens and Edgar Rogers, forwards, and Clive Countryman, center. Several second string players show great promise for future teams. Under the supervision of Coach Sackett these boys played clean, hard basket ball.

Most of the boys who turned out this year were Sophomores and Juniors, so next year's team will have many experienced players on which to build. Three boys, Donald Kennon, Norman White and Ejnar Johnson, were lost by graduation.

Monroe Union High School was a member of the "A" basket ball league. Other school members were: Snohomish, Arlington, Everett, Edmonds and Marysville. Monroe played each school twice during the season, but due to the inexperience of the players and poor luck, she won only one game, and that from Marysville. The Bearcat quintet played a defensive game far superior to their offensive tactics and high hopes for the future lie in the effects of this year's training to be shown next year.

TENNIS

The tennis squad was under the direction of Superintendent H. L. Squibb. Mr. Squibb having coached tennis for several years in the Yakima valley and being an excellent player himself is well acquainted with the finer points of the game and possesses the ability to give his knowledge to others. Noting the wealth of material in the first turnout of the season, Coach Squibb expressed high hopes of the squad's enjoying a favorable season.

Those answering the call for tennis were: Lyle Reaper, three-year letterman in singles; Roy Hallstrom, two-year letterman in singles; Norman White, three-year letterman in doubles; Oscar Starlund, two-year letterman in doubles; Ellery Jellison, one-year letterman in doubles; Bud Rogers, Lee Orr, Vernon Broughton, Glen Gardner, Clive Countryman, Sidney Johnson, Carroll Barlow, Earnest Keck, Stanley Byrns, Gordon Dotson, Swen Olsen, Bob McCord and Ray Dahl.

Before the county meet in May, practice games were held with the different teams in the county, giving the contestants experience and a general idea of the opposition to be expected at the county meet.

TRACK

Coach Manley Sackett called his track squad together in the latter part of March. His call was answered by a number of young Spartans, but due to adverse weather conditions and the lack of a suitable track the boys were somewhat handicapped in their activity. However, due to the good coaching and the determination of the track men a firm foundation was established for future winning track teams of Monroe High School.

Just as the Muhi Tye went to press Monroe had taken part in the county track meet at Everett, in which George Simmons placed second in the broad jump and Jack Orr placed fourth in the 440-yard dash. Coach Sackett said "that despite the weather and condition of the track there is excellent material that should develop into point winners before the season ends." The first meet of the season was April 16, a triangular meet with Sultan, Edmonds and Monroe at Sultan, at which Monroe garnered 18 points.

Though only a mediocre track was at the use of the track men, a newly planned athletic field is expected to be constructed at the first of next year with an excellent track, a new baseball diamond and football fields.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

For better physical development of the girls of the school girls' athletics were carried on another year under the supervision of Mrs. J. Young. The sports, sports days, and awards of the girls were regulated by the Snohomish County Girls' Athletic Association, of which Monroe has been a member since its organization in 1926. Although no exhibition games are allowed for the girls the activity was decidedly an important one as may be seen by the number who enjoyed its benefits.

The five sports of the girls were speedball, volley ball, baseball, track and tennis, the latter three being carried on simultaneously the last part of the year.

The fall sport was speedball, managed by Uvona McCormick and Bessie Barker. The playing season was drawn to a close October 19 by a sports day at Sultan, in which Lucille Smith and Evelyn Theiss received all-star team honors.

Following this season of outdoor sport came volley ball carried on in the gymnasium. It was managed by Leona Jones and Gertrude Cook. It was drawn to a close by another sports day held January 10 at Arlington. Monroe again placed twice in the all-star team, with Ovidia Korstad and Marjorie Donovan.

Then in the spring season, followed baseball, track and tennis. As the Tye goes to press nothing definite has been done in any of these sports.

The award system in girls' athletics is made standard throughout the county by the Snohomish County Girls' Athletic Association, mentioned above. The first award in girls' athletics is an orange on black numeral given for 500 points; the second, an orange on black "M" for 1000 points; the third, a black on orange "M" for 1500 points; the fourth, a gold pin given for 2000 points and last an orange and tan felt pollow, given for 2500 points. Points are given for positions on teams, all-star team ratings, hikes, health charts and exercises.

Recently started is a Girls' "M" club, somewhat similar to the Boys' "M" club. It includes Lucille Smith, Dorothy Bump, Evelyn Theiss, Mildred Byrns, Marjorie Donovan, Leona Jones, Inez Haberly, Uvona McCormick and Vera Nelson, who have won "M's" in their gymnasium work.

The Snohomish County Girls' Athletic Association includes all schools in the county and provides a uniform grading and award system for all the members. It was originated in 1926 and has proven quite successful. It advocates girls' sports as a means of strict physical development instead of a revenue-producing activity.

WEARERS OF THE "M"

The club was under the supervision of Coach Manley Sackett, who helped formulate plans to make the club one of the most active in school. The club was organized for the purposes of arousing interest in athletics and to develop friendliness and good sportmanship among the members.

The duties of the club were to take charge of equipment issued to those turning out for athletics; to take charge at all games in which the club is represented; and to interest others into qualifying for membership.

To become a full fledged member of the club one had to win a first team letter in one of the athletic events in which the school participated; he must have had a favorable scholastic standing and he had to be recognized by the older members of the organization.

The plans were to let those who are working for first team awards join the club and be junior members. It was presumed that would arouse more interest and bring about more qualifications for membership.

The qualifications for officials were that all must have favorable scholastic standings; the president must be a member of the senior class; vice-president must be a member of the junior class. The other officials, secretary, treasurer and sergeant-at-arms may be represented from any of the classes.

DRAMATICS

"CRAZY QUILT REVUE"

An all-high school entertainment "The Crazy Quilt Revue" was presented by the students in the auditorium on January 14.

This entertaining vaudeville show coached by the various departmental instructors of music, girls' athletics and dramatics, included: A Russian Phantasy by the Girls' Glee club; plantation melodies by the Boys' Glee club; folk dances by the girls' gymnasium classes and three short skits, "Patent Medicine," a comedy of the South; "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," a pantomime of four hands; "Hamlet," the grave diggers scene.

"THE HAUNTED HOUSE"

The first important dramatic event of the year and one well received by the audience in attendance was the senior play "The Haunted House," a mystery play particularly suited for presentation on the eve before Hallowe'en, October 30.

The cast, directed by Mr. Howell, was as follows: Morgan, Francis Barter; Emily, Lucille Smith; Jack, Don Knapp; Thomas, Robert Smith; Duncan, Norman White; Helen, Uvona McCormick; Isabelle, Ramona Brown; Ezra, Bill Bratton; Ed, Roger Bailey; Grogan, Robert Meek; Evans, Norman Hartzell.

"APPLESAUCE"

"Applesauce," a humorous play of modern life, was presented by the Junior class March 4, with seven members of the class in the cast. The play was very well acted and well received by a large audience of students and townspeople.

The story of the play surrounded a well-meaning mother and father of a girl whom they were striving to persuade to marry a young man of their choice. She did become engaged to Rollo, but broke off in favor of Bill, who, against popular opinion, turned out to be an excellent provider. The play was appropriately titled from Bill's chief stock-in-trade "Applesauce" (in other words, a cheerful optimism) which did in the end win for him all the essentials of life, even a girl. It was through the clever application of this personal attribute that also reversed the uncomplimentary regard his uncle had held for him.

Hazel Robinson was played by Margaret Isacson; Bill McAllister, Harold Sandberg; Rollo Jenkins, Jay Lanning; Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Guy Fields and LaDonna Watkins; Uncle Matt McAllister, Sidney Johnson; and Mrs. Jennie Baldwin, who was responsible for most of the humor of the play, Helen Johnson.

The excellent manner in which the play was presented was due to the very good direction of Mr. Norman Howell, dramatic instructor in the high school.

"PICKLES"

The last dramatic event of the year, the operetta "Pickles," was presented at the high school April 22, by the combined efforts of both the boys' and girls' glee clubs, and the orchestra.

The part of Ilona, the gypsy girl, was played by Margaret Isacson; Jigo the chieftan, Sidney Johnson; Lady Vivian deLancy, mother of Ilona, LaDonna Watkins; Mr. Pennington, the wealthy pickle manufacturer, Guy Fields; his daughter, June Pennington, Jane Swan; the American artist, Arthur Crefont, Ray Olson; J. Jennison Jones, Don Green; Kinski, the chief of police, Harry Prochaska. Emma Peterson was in the role of Louisa the waitress. Hans Maier, proprietor of the Wurtzelpraeter Inn was Edgar Rogers; Bumpski and Rumpski, the two detectives, were Jack Howard and Dan Donovan. Waiters were Frederick Rosenzweig, Ed

Hollier and Caroll Barlow. Betty Lane was the dancer.

The American tourists, Viennese girls, gypsies and policemen, were taken by members of the boys' and girls' glee clubs. The high school orchestra furnished the accompaniments to songs, with Annie Isacson at the piano.

The story was a delightful double romance, carried on before an artistic background of gypsy and Viennese beauty with clever songs and light humor as a supplementary touch. "Pickles" successfully climaxed another year's work on the part of the combined glee clubs.

The cast and chorus was ably instructed through all their practices by Miss Torey, music supervisor and Mr. Howell, dramatic instructor.

MUHI TYE STAFF

In making up the "Tye", the whole staff worked together, pooling individual effort, ideas, and energy to make a publication worthy of the school. The work fell in three groups, the editorial, photographic and business divisions, each with separate work to do, but all necessary for the production of the annual.

The advertising managers, Helen Johnson, Elvera Jacobson, with Marie Clancy the business manager, made the rounds of the business houses on Tuesday and Thursday noons to secure advertising. A new plan was originated and used this year for additional ads. The manual training boys made a bulletin board, painted orange and black, upon which the names and slogans of each advertiser were pasted. This was placed in a conspicuous spot for everyone to see. Besides this, each firm was accorded an advertisement in the annual with the firm slogan.

The staff wishes to take this opportunity to thank those students who have made this book possible through the contribution of their time and energy, and to the school patrons for their advertising.

TORCH SOCIETY

The Torch Society is an organization established to promote good fellowship among the students who are interested in the pursuit of knowledge, to encourage scholarship by recognition of merit, and to foster good citizenship. The four points which are standards of the Torch are leadership, scholarship, character and service. The Torch Society in this school is an outgrowth of the National Torch Society, which elects 15 per cent of the upper 25 per cent of the students. It was organized in Monroe 10 years ago. Monroe was the first school in the county, and among the first in the state to foster this organization.

Last fall the society began its tenth year in Monroe high school under the supervision of Mrs. M. Reardon. The annual initiation was held November 17 in the auditorium, at which 11 seniors received the gold torch pin, 11 juniors, the two-bar pin, and nine sophomores the one-bar pin. The initiation program included musical numbers, an address by the Reverend Allen, the presentation of the pins and the charge and response.

BOARD OF CONTROL

The Board of Control is the Advisory Council to the Student Association. It is composed of the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and manager of the student body, the principal of the high school and a boy and girl representative from each class.

Interest in student government and in all student activities increased by leaps and bounds over the interest displayed during previous years, due to the innovation of the newer Student Council plan.

Under this newer system of control the student association inaugurated and participated in several noteworthy movements during the year. One of the most successful of these was the institution of Monrovia Day at which students assumed official control of the city. The others were the representation of the student body at the annual leaders conference at Seattle, the establishment of the student book store, and the revision of the constitution of the student association.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic club of the Monroe Union high school was organized early in the school year by a group of students interested in that activity.

The club was founded upon the worth-while aims of furthering the personal developments of students participating in the activities of the club and to create a liking among the students of the high school, for the best forms of the drama.

Gaining impetus from the first meetings, the members increased rapidly, until at the end of the year, there were about 30 members.

The club aided in the production of the all-high school entertainment "The Crazy Quilt Revue," which was given January 14. In addition to this, a dramatic play, "The Finger of God," was presented to the school at the annual Christmas program.

The club's main activity for the year was to aid in the presentation of high school entertainments. During the year it was discussed as to whether the club should join the National Thespians, which is a national dramatic society. It was decided, however, to leave this matter until a later year, and for the present, design the local club somewhat according to that of the national organization.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Future Farmers of America displaced the old Agricultural club in 1931, when the club was reorganized as a chapter of the nation-wide organization. The local chapter has its own constitution and manages its own affairs. The purpose of the organization is to supplement the work in agriculture and to make it more interesting. All boys who study agriculture in high school are eligible to become members, but only those who pay dues are considered as such.

The Future Farmers were well represented at most of the fairs last fall, and won several high places. The potato-judging team, including Sidney Johnson, Melvin Mullet and William Hegewald, with Clive Countryman as alternate, won a loving cup, high honor, three first places, two second places and one third place at the various fairs.

Three Future Farmers, Lyle Smith, Bruno Roselli and Sid Johnson, represented Monroe at the tenth Agricultural Conference at Pullman, where the boys listened to lectures and inspected projects of agricultural interest.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS

BOYS' CLUB

The Boys' club is an organization to which all the boys in school belong, the purpose of which is to bring them close together into a friendly, democratic, cooperative group.

The most outstanding work done by the club this year was the completing of the construction and furnishing of the boys' recreation room. It is there the boys eat their noon-day lunches and, with the spare time they have, make use of the gymnasium equipment and ping pong table with which the room has been outfitted.

GIRLS' CLUB

The Girls' club was organized in Monroe High school eight years ago, under the leadership of Miss Helen Himes, then the Girls' club advisor. No special qualifications were required for membership, but every girl automatically joined the club upon entering high school.

The purpose of the club was to bring about cooperation and friendliness among the girls and to provide a working unit for projects. The club believes in democracy, simplicity of dress and manner and refinement, encouraging interest and participation in school affairs.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee club this year was made up of 57 girls and the accompanist, Maragaret Isacson and the director, Miss Torrey.

Like the other organizations of the school the glee club organized and elected officers. Margaret Isacson was elected president and Edna Borlin, secretary. The primary objects of the glee club were to develop good voices and learn the appreciation of music.

In addition to the regular class work the glee club has appeared at several assemblies and evening functions of the high school. At the all-high school entertainment they sang several selections which included "In Luxembourg Gardens," "Dark Eyes," "Roses of Piccardy," "Fair Wind and Weather." The operetta chorus was also chosen from the glee club.

This years girls' trio was made up of the same members as was last years'. The trio consists of LaDonna Watkins, soprano; Dagmar Johnson, second soprano; Ramona Brown, alto.

A triple trio was formed which sung at Baccalaureate and graduation exercises. The entire group combined with the Boys' Glee club to sing at these excrcises also.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee club, as one of the major activity organizations of the high school, was organized immediately after the opening of school, under the direction of Miss Mary Torrey. This year the club included more members than it has had for several years.

They appeared at the annual Christmas program, "Crazy Quilt Revue," and the high school operetta, "Pickles."

The boys' quartet, made up of Guy Fields, first tenor; Ray Olson, second tenor; Delbert Howell, baritone and Roger Bailey, bass, was chosen about the middle of the first semester.

At the beginning of the new semester the boys decided to combine the members of the organization into a club and elect officers. Roger Bailey was chosen president; Edgar Nixon, secretary and Ernest Keck, vice-president. During the year the classes enjoyed several programs, given both by their own members and by members of the Girls' Glee club.

Combining with the Girls' Glee club, the Boys' Glee club helped to form the large choir which sung for Baccalaureate on the night of May 29. As the last public gesture of the school year, the boys again combined with the Girls' Glee club on graduation, June 2, to sing the Senior processional.

ORCHESTRA

The high school orchestra, despite the lack of size, under the able leadership of Miss Torrey, proved to be a very popular group at the numerous high school functions at which the organization appeared during the course of the year.

The orchestra was composed of four violins, two "C" melody saxophones, one "D" flat tenor saxophone, three clarinets and one trombone, with the accompanist.

The orchestra rendered several selections at the different school functions. They played at both senior and junior plays and the high school benefit movies. At the all-high school entertainment, "The Crazy Quilt Revue," the orchestra played a group of selections which were arranged around the following pieces, "High School Cadets," "Washington Post March," "Belle of Chicago," and "I'm Sorry Dear." To this last selection a girls' trio of Jane Swan, Dagmar Johnson and Ramona Brown sang an accompaniment. The last appearance of the orchestra, prior to the closing of school, was at the high school operetta, "Pickles," to which they played the accompanying music.

The orchestra complied cheerfully at all times with their directors, meeting once a week before school for the entire school year.
