Monroe Junior High School

To the Wagner Family, which has been outstanding in civic, educational, and industrial leadership in the community, and to Frank Wagner in particular, who through his generosity and moral support made possible Monroe's fine new Junior High School, we respectfully dedicate this 1940 issue of the Hayu Saghalie.

MONROE UNION HIGH SCHOOL

VOLUME IV.

JUNE, 1940

ADMINISTRATION

Affairs of the Monroe High School district have prospered under the able administration of the school board, the superintendent, the principals, and the faculties.

The school board not only maintained the Union High School but provided a new Junior High School, so that our district can compete with any in the county as to equipment and maintenance.

The overlapping of certain subject fields made it necessary for certain faculty members to travel from Senior to Junior High for class work, hence the duplication in the faculty pictures.

SCHOOL DISTRICT 103

Mr. H. L. Squibb, Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. E. H. Streissguth, President of the School Board.

Mr. L. B. Waltz, Principal of the Monroe Union High School.

Student Administration

Student assistants in the library and the office have unusual opportunity for profitable and up-to-date training in those occupational fields. The services of these students have proved of great value not only to the faculty but also to their schoolmates.

A new organization this year, the Fire Squad, has rapidly developed a feeling of confidence in the students by the capable handling of fire drills. The speed of the drills has been definitely increased and confusion diminished to a minimum by their efficient leadership. In addition the educational program they have sponsored has had considerable effect in decreasing malpractices and fire hazards in homes as well as at school.

Student Leaders

Torch, an organization to promote better scholarship, good fellowship, and a general understanding between students and teachers, requires exceptional scholastic attainments of its members. Officers of Torch for 1939-1940 were: President, Kenneth Schlilaty; Vice-President, Karl Streissguth; Secretary-Treasurer, Arline Felix.

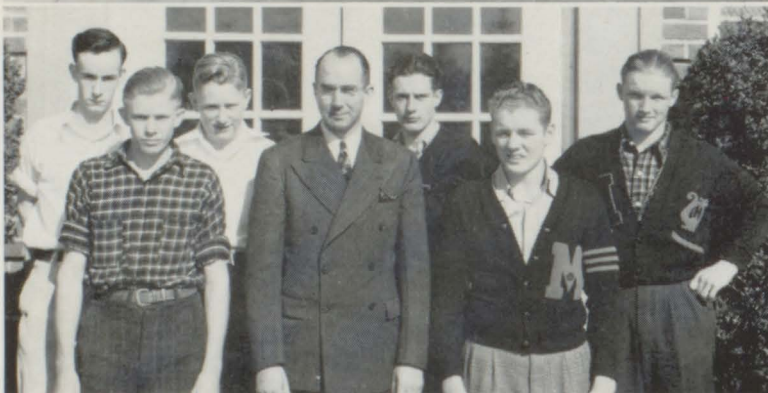

Boy's Club, to which all boys may belong, features programs to help promote student body activities. The talented and amusing productions of the last year have helped to finance bus transportation to games.

Welfare of its members and promotion of the interests of the girl students are the primary aims of Girls' Club. Its officers for the year were: President, Hilda Moore; Vice-President, Dorothy Steen; Secretary-Treasurer, Margaret Storey.

Senior Class

Four years of hard work and active participation in school events have marked the career of the 1940 graduating class. Under the co-advisership of Miss Blossey and Mr. Bates, the graduating class of fifty-seven produced some outstanding school leaders in sports, activities, and scholarship. Top rank in scholarship was awarded to Valedictorian Dorothea Federico. The race for second place ended in a tie with a double entry for the position of Salutatorian. Betty Lou Bayly and Bob Sherwood divided that honor.

CLASS OFFICERS

The Student Body

The Board of Control is made up of the student body officers and two representatives, a boy and a girl, elected from each class. Student body officers also serve as officers of the Board of Control. The group acts as an executive committee for the school, transacting its important business and determining its policies. Advisers: Mr. Squibb, Mr. Waltz.

The Junior Class, with an enrollment of forty-two boys and thirty-eight girls, sponsored two major school events: the class play, "June Mad," by Florence Ryerson and Collin Clements, and the Junior Banquet given in honor of the graduating Seniors.

The Sophomore enrollment this year was thirty-four boys and thirty-eight girls. Although the youngest class in high school, the Sophomores have taken part in all activities and have proved themselves very good sports.

Activities

Striving for a more noteworthy Hayu Saghalie, the annual staff, under the editorship of Bob Sherwood and the capable managing of Jane Alles, with the cooperation of the student body and the advertisers, has given proof of its ability.

The Hi-Tye staff, by providing regular issues of the school paper in which news and school humor have held the reader's interest, has contributed its share in creating school spirit.

Monroe's Future Farmers have long been an active group in school and have given excellent publicity to the school by their ability in judging competitions.

Dramatics

Student dramatic productions of the year were the Junior class play, "June Mad," and the Senior presentation of "Smiling Through." Dramatics students also participated in the operetta, "Oh Doctor!" The faculty play, "Through the Night," met with favorable comment from student and adult audiences alike. With the support of a large staff of technicians, ticket sellers, costume managers, and the community in general, the dramatics department had a very successful year.

Music

In reviewing the musical year, we find the outstanding vocal performance to have been the operetta, "Oh Doctor!" The high school chorus served as a nucleus around which were built the fabric of dialogue and choruses. With the able assistance of the orchestra, this piece, presented March 15, served to arouse new interest in the music department.

In addition to the operetta, the chorus took part in the Christmas pageant and numerous school entertainments as well as the Music Festivals. It also appeared at community functions and presented a series of afternoon programs at the Junior High School.

OPERETTA LEADS

Standing: Cook, Schwartz, Skillen, Sherwood, Cadden, Jellison, Hall, Lund, Johnson, Haywood, Goerz, Schlilaty. Seated: Kindle, Sielaff, Currie Rohde, Mantei, Felix.

Band

The high school band of thirty pieces has been very active during the current year. Headed by three drum majorettes, it took first place for its marching formations and new uniforms at the Monroe Fair. Members of the band made their initial appearance at sports contests at the football games at Snohomish, but they appeared at all home basketball games as well as those away. One afternoon concert was presented for the students. The highlight of the season was the public performance when a full evening program was presented with Mr. Mulholland, who played the viola, and his daughter, a flutist, as guest artists.

Majorettes: Cedergr en, Storey, Currie. Top: Austin, Heifort, Main, Simon, Murdock, Mr. Hanna, Steffen, Masterjohn, Nichols, G. Riley, D. Burt, Halverson, Baldwin, Lane. Bottom: J. C. Riley, F. Geyer, B. Burt, Pearson, Bacheldor, Lund, Donovan, Handley, C. Geyer, Streissguth, Waltner, Bevensee.

Standing: B. Heifort, Jellison, Bennett, J. C. Riley, Masterjohn, Lund, Halverson, Baldwin, Nichols, Hamilton, Mr. Bennett. Seated: Austin, Main, F. Geyer, Bates, Streissguth, Wanzer, Watson, Wall, Clarin, Finke, Henrickson, Johnson, Tucker, Taylor, Anderson, Heifort, Conley, C. Geyer, Bevensee.

Orchestra

With a definitely increased enrollment, the orchestra of the Monroe schools went to work in earnestness and proved its ability in a number of public performances. Although it played incidental music at the Junior class play, its initial full-length presentation took place late in the fall at a matinee program for students. Assistance rendered at the operetta did much to make that an excellent musical treat. Other appearances were made at school functions, the Senior class play, and Commencement.

Junior High School Classes

This year's Freshmen were not Freshmen at all, but Ninth Graders and therefore Seniors in their own right at the new Junior High. The class had an enrollment of eighty pupils, but unlike the other two classes, was not divided.

Since the Eighth Grade was so large and the roll rooms so small, the class of seventy-seven was divided into two sections each of which transacted its own business under its own officers and adviser.

The Seventh Grade will be the first class to spend the full three years in the new school which was opened in the fall of 1939. The class of sixty-seven was divided into two sections to transact business more easily.

NINTH GRADE OFFICERS

President: Theldon Zaugg; Vice-President: Margy Dennis; Secretary-Treasurer: James Hamilton; Adviser: Mr. Hanna.

EIGHTH GRADE OFFICERS

Junior High Leaders

Although new this year, the Junior High School has produced some outstanding student leaders. Administrative work is cared for by the Student Council which carries on student government. Safety of Junior and Senior High School students depends to a great measure upon the Student Patrols. The corps of ushers efficiently handles the large crowds attending student affairs. The enthusiasm of the students for sports, especially basketball, is due in large measure to their capable yell leaders.

Football

The 1939 Bearcats' Football Team closed a very successful gridiron season with a 0-0 tie with Ferndale. The team as a whole was small, but what the boys lacked in size they made up for in fight. The team had a very good schedule playing Sumner, 100 miles south, and Ferndale, 100 miles north of Monroe. There was a large turnout for squad and fourteen members made their letters under the dual captainship of Marvin Steen and Kenneth Schlilaty.

Basketball

With no lettermen returning from last year's squad, the hopes of Monroe were pinned on an inexperienced team. Although Monroe was not reckoned a strong contestant for honors, the Bearcats did the near-impossible by winning five straight out of eight conference games in the County Class A League. They were eliminated from the County Tournament by losing two closely fought games to Arlington and Skykomish.

At the beginning of the season the team showed its greenness by losing a number of practice games; but as the season progressed, the team improved steadily and took second place in Class A standing.

Much of the credit for this successful year can be attributed to the fine spirit of the student body which whole-heartedly supported the team, win or lose. The students attended all games in full force and more than once cheered the boys on to win.

Spring Sports

The great American game of baseball has its ardent fans, both participators and spectators, at Monroe Union High. There is always a large turn-out as soon as the field is put in condition. Two other sports which interest students greatly in the spring are track and tennis. Since spring football has been abandoned, these three sports take up the major part of athletic activity from Easter vacation until the close of school for summer vacation.

Boosters

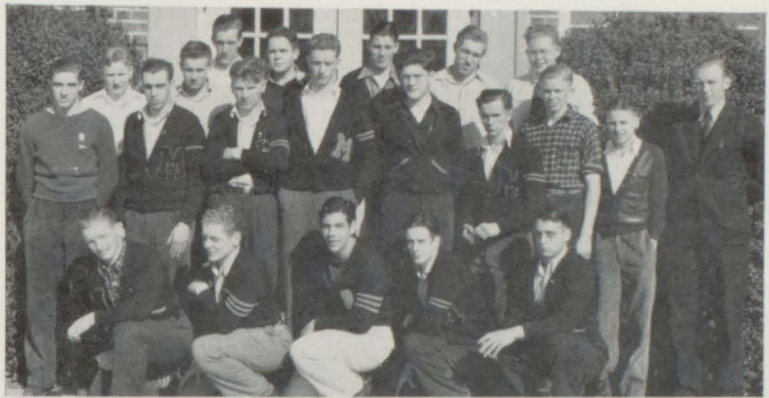

The Lettermen's Club is an organization of boys to further the development of athletics, sportsmanship, and general welfare of our school. To become a permanent member, a boy must win a first-team award in football, basketball, baseball, or track after which he is initiated by participation in a smoker.

The Booster Club is made up of two representatives from each class. Its duty is to sponsor ticket sales and regulate conduct at all school events, and in all possible ways give the school favorable publicity.

The Girls' "M" Club is composed of girls who have received 1,000 points through participation in girls' sports after school. This entitles them to a one-stripe sweater to which stripes are added as additional points are earned.

Girls' Sports

Intramural sports and play days occupy a large part of the girls' physical education at Monroe Union High. Having a large playfield of their own, the girls can participate in many sports without having to share time or space with the boys. Fall and winter sports include speedball, volleyball, and basketball. Spring turn-outs are for tumbling, baseball, track, tennis, archery, badminton, horse-shoes, and ping-pong.

First teams which participated in play days were: Speedball at Edmonds with Peterson, Bosch, Hirschy, Austin, Hegewald, Zevenbergen, Taylor, Donovan, Furlong, Watson, and Graham; volleyball at Monroe with Foye, Currie, Donovan, Furlong, Heifort, Zevenbergen, Taylor, and Bosch; basketball at Arlington with Foye, Haji, Bosch, Cook, Zevenbergen, Bosch, Heifort, and Davis.
